NICK BLUETOOTH

Nick Bluetooth always knew there had to be something more to life than going to school and living with his Grandfather. When he stumbles upon a mysterious egg-shaped craft capable of dimensional travel, his greatest adventure begins.

JENS

Jens is a four-armed robot with the mind of a brilliant, if eccentric, scientist. He's nervous and a little neurotic, and somehow always manages to land himself and those around him in danger. But when there's trouble, you can count on him to be first to help. Jens is a master at inventing all sorts of gadgets, and can fix anything by interchanging his hand with a welding iron.

GORM

Evil and relentless, Gorm is out to conquer all of the Outer Dimension, including GALIDOR™. He knows that only one obstacle stands in his way - Nick - and he's determined to capture and destroy the boy. Gorm's most potent weapons are his illusion-casting and mind-control abilities. Those who dare to challenge him can wind up lost forever in the illusions he creates!

EURIPIDES

Euripides is an Amphibib and looks like a man-sized frog. He's the last of his kind, gifted with the ability to move things telekinetically and communicate through telepathy. Gorm wiped out the entire Amphibib race, so Euripides is dedicated to helping Nepol and Jens return Nick to GALIDOR™. Euripides is noble and wise, but sometimes spends too much time thinking and not enough doing. His staff gives off light that can be used to show the way or to temporarily blind opponents.

Nepol was once an eight-foot tall Siktari warrior, until Gorm shrunk him in battle. Even though he is short now, he's still as tough, fearless and angry as ever before. His temper gets him into trouble, but his ice-blaster armbands helps him get out of it again. He's a loyal friend to Nick, and he's looking forward to settling the score with Gorm once and for all.
